

Burren Perfumes

The Burren Perfumery was founded 35 years ago at the centre of a quiet valley in the heart of the Burren, a limestone plateau on the west coast of Ireland. This region is famous for its wild landscape and more than 700 species of flowering plants that inspired the original Perfumery fragrances: Man of Aran, Ilaun, Frond and Fraoch. A range of contemporary floral waters evokes the changing scents of the seasons. Free from parabens, colourants and sodium lauryl sulphate, these products are safe for those with skin sensitivities. Sadie Chowen, the new owner and operator of The Perfumery, wants to continue Burren's tradition of creating products inspired by the Irish countryside and increase the simplicity and purity of the formulas.
